

REVIEW OF NEW ZEALAND MĀORI GOVERNANCE QUALIFICATIONS REVIEW PLAN JUNE 2019

Hei Timatanga – Introduction

E hī ake ana te atakura. He tio, he huka, he hauhunga

The red dawn comes with a sharpened air, a touch of frost, the promise of a glorious day.

This proverb represents a vision that challenges will be met, and futures will be bright. Enhancing Māori Governance is an important step towards meeting the challenges that we will inevitably face and creating bright futures. Based on tikanga and kaupapa, a Māori Governance framework enables whānau, hapū, and iwi—to leave positive legacies for future generations.

Māori Governance qualifications are an important mechanism for building the capacity and capability of ākonga, whānau, hapū, and iwi; empowering them to exercise rangatiratanga and to make effective contributions of consequence to Te Ao Māori and Aotearoa today, and into the future.

The review of the Māori Governance qualifications is being undertaken as part of maintenance cycle of the qualifications which focuses on ensuring that they continue to meet the overall needs of whānau, hapū, iwi, and the sector and remain aligned with the rules for listing qualifications on the New Zealand Qualifications Framework (NZQF).

For the duration of the review, Māori Qualifications Services will work in collaboration with stakeholders to support the review and development of qualifications that:

- meet the current and future needs of ākonga, whānau, hapū, Iwi, hāpori Māori
- are easy to understand for end users and other stakeholders
- enable and support high quality education, employment and/or community pathways
- represent value, and are recognised as useful and relevant by users and others with an interest in Governance Māori
- are achievable in different delivery contexts
- contribute to the strengthening of Māori as a people and the advancement of mātauranga Māori.

Working collaboratively, and with the establishment of a Review Working Group, Māori Qualifications Services will work in the spirit of manaakitanga, kotahitanga, and whanaungatanga to ensure the successful implementation of this review.

Te Huarahi – Outline of the Review Process (The Approach)

Step One: Preparing for the review of the qualifications

In preparation for the review, Māori Qualifications Services will undertake the following actions/activities:

- Gathering research and data to inform an initial overview of the Māori economy and description of the broad features of governance/governance.
- This information may include:
 - Māori Workforce Development Research.
 - Labour market and census information.
 - Qualification usage data from NZQA and TEC.
 - Other research from relevant providers, Industry and government agencies, including:
 - Information on graduate outcomes (employment, pathways to higher education, performance information).
 - Database of industry stakeholders (including Māori stakeholders) and networks for consultation.
 - Information about possible qualification structures.
 - Feedback and kōrero from whānau, hapū, iwi who currently hold Governance positions.
- Carrying out a survey to inform the analysis of stakeholder governance needs, both current and projected. The survey is attached to this paper as Appendix 4.

Step Two: Planning the Review

A Review Working Group will be established to provide detailed and technical input into the review and development of the Māori Governance qualifications.

Feedback will be sought from education organisations and industry, whānau, hapū, iwi and other end-users on current qualifications and any gaps in the suite of qualifications.

Step Three: Conducting the review

The current qualifications will be mapped to sector requirements to help determine if the current qualifications are fit for purpose.

A draft map of the new qualification or suite of qualifications, including draft outcome statements and graduate profile based on an analysis of the information gathered will be developed.

Once completed, a new qualification or suite of qualifications will be presented to the Review Working Group for feedback/approval prior to being released for full consultation.

Step Four: Reporting the Review and submission to NZQA

Following the consultation process, Māori Qualifications Services will prepare a draft report with recommendations for the new qualification or suite of qualifications for approval by the Review Working Group, and revision where appropriate, before submitting the final report and qualifications to Quality Assurance Māori for approval.

Te Whakapātanga – Consultation and on-going communication

Throughout the review process the Māori Qualifications Team will develop and maintain a database of stakeholders. Organisations and individuals will have the opportunity to be added to the database at any time throughout the review.

To ensure all stakeholders are aware of the review progress and have an opportunity for input, there will be on-going electronic communications distributed, including:

- A Governance Māori qualification review page on the NZQA website to host all communications including Review Working Group meeting outcomes, and draft documents for consultation.
- E-mail communications throughout the review, directing stakeholders to the review page on the NZQA website.

It is acknowledged that this form of consultation (electronic) will not meet the needs of all stakeholders. As a result, face to face consultation processes may be put in place, where appropriate, to engage those stakeholders to ensure their input is captured.

A comprehensive Communications Plan will be developed and monitored to ensure whānau, hapū, iwi, and other stakeholders have multiple opportunities to feed in, and receive feedback from, the review.

Te Hono o Te Kahurangi – Review and evaluation through a mātauranga Māori lens

Approval to list the qualification(s) subsequent to this review will be sought under Te Hono o Te Kahurangi.

It is proposed then, that the review and evaluation be conducted under the kaupapa of Te Hono o Te Kahurangi; namely:

Rangatiratanga	The review will reflect a unique and distinctively Māori approach to ensure the needs of ākonga, the wider community and other key stakeholders are met.
Whanaungatanga	The care of ākonga, whānau, hapū, iwi and mātauranga Māori itself will be a fundamental outcome of the review
Manaakitanga	The presence and expressions of mana-enhancing behaviours and practices will be evident between all review participants.
Pūkengatanga	Those directly involved in the review will have the skills and knowledge needed to ensure that the values, beliefs, needs and aspirations of the people are met.
Kaitiakitanga	All review participants will ensure that the authenticity, integrity and use of mātauranga Māori is protected, maintained and transmitted appropriately.
Te reo Māori	As the primary vehicle for expressing and transmitting Māori knowledge, values and culture, te reo Māori is practiced, promoted and celebrated.
